Man Named in Late Arthur Manby's Diary Arrested at Taos, N. M.

TAOS, N. M., March 14,-Carmen Duran of Taos, mentioned in the diary of Arthur Manby, 69 years old, who was found dead in his home here tast July, as a rival of Manby for the affections of Terecita Ferguson, has been arrested in connection with the recent rob-bery and burning of the Taos studio of Mr. and Mrs. John Younghunter, New York artists. Terecita Ferguson is at liberty under $500 bond in connection with the Younghun-ter robbery case, and her nephew, George Ferguson, is in jail.

Duran was arrested after he and Terecita returned from Albuquerque, where Dr. Victor Thorne of New York City had obtained judgment in Federal Court for $13,-000 against the estate of Manby, title to which is held by the Colonial Bond and Surety Co., of which Terecita is president. The judg-ment was rendered on a mortgage.

Manby, whose mysterious death is the subject of a renewed investigation at the request of English relatives, lived the life of a recluse in this artists' colony, but was an avowed admirer of Terecita Ferguson, with whom he shared his financial dealings. He described the young brunette in his diary as the "Princess of all my dreams."

J. H. Crist, attorney for Manby, said he had documents to prove that Manby was naturalised, and that this development should preclude intervention by the United States Government or the British rnment in the investigation in "On Dec. 4, 1899, Manby was ad-

Public Debt Reduced.

Larue defended the financial regime, which many Haitians have praised. He said the per capita tax had been increased only 20 cents since 1924 and that the pub-lic debt per capita had been cut from 60 to 44 gourdes (a gourde is 20 cents), and that the internal revenue had been developed until it was now half the revenue of the

Mr. Lauer Says....

"Only the Rich Can Afford Poor Furniture"

SOMETHING flashy in furniture, even if the grade is questionable, is all right for the rich man, but people in moderate circumstances should steer clear of it. Average folks should buy furniture that lasts . . . and that is the kind of furniture we sell.

We simply will not handle furniture that gets wobbly or that opens at the joints or the kind that quickly loses its finish. Maybe our prices are not the lowest in town, but they are the lowest possible for good dependable furniture.

"California Fig Syrup has chauged all that. It regulated the bowels quickly; improved her appetite and digestion. She has improved right along until friends say she's a regular prize-winner for health."

Mothers by thousands praise California Fig Syrup. Physicians endorse it. Its rich, fruity flavor appeals to children; its pure vegetable goodness is safe for any child. The prompt relief it brings bilious, headachy, constipated children helps. because it helps tone and strengthen bowels and stomach. regarded the greatest achievement since the location of Neptune, the eighth primary planet of the solar system, in 1846. The task now remains to determine its size, exact distance from the earth, its orbit and other planetary characteristics.

The discovery was accomplished much in the same manner as the finding of Neptune. Tombaugh came to the observatory last fall and has been working with the new Lawrence-Lowell telescope exposing and examining the planets under the direction of senior members of the staff.

Two years before his death, Dr. Percival Lowell, founder of the local observatory, announced calculations on the trans-Neptunian planet and, although he never had een it, his computations indicated that such a body must exist.

While the newly discovered plan-et as yet remains just "a blotch of light" on a photographic plate, as-tronomers at the observatory have announced they will follow every action of the planet in order that more of its character be learned. Scientists agree it may be as large as Jupiter, the greatest of the planets, which is 1200 times the size of the earth.

Planet Is Third Discovered in Last

NEW YORK March 14.—Dis-coverey of the unnamed planet far-out beyond the solar system is the third major planet found in about 300 years. The first of these modern planets, Uranus, was discovered by Sir William Hershel in 1781. It is estimated to be 1,782,- 800 miles from the sun. Next came the discovery of Neptune by one of the most astonish-ing calculations man ever had made. Certain irregularities in the omers for years. The key to their solution was found about simul-taneously by two astronomers. Both said it must lie in another planet out even farther from the sun than Uranus.

J. Leverrier, a Frenchman, asked the Berlin Observatory to look for the planet in a given spot. In 1846, probably Sept. 23, a German astronomer looked, but did not see the planet. However, when he compared this section of the sky with some charts showing pre-viously observed stars, he found he had a new one. This new pin point of light proved to be Nep-

Adams, an Englishman, had made similar predictions unknown to the scope, turned upon the right spot in the sky on the night of Aug. 4. the same year, had located the planet, but as in Germany, the astronomer had failed to note its presence. The Frenchman's discevery was published first.

In the discovery of new planets the first of the asteroids was found in 1801 by Piazzi. These are very small planets farther from the sun than the earth, occupying a space between Mars and Jupiter. Many others have been found since then.

Some idea of the work carried out by the Byrd expedition was given by Frank T. Davis, the physicist accompanying it.

Working in conjunction with Dr. Laurence M. Gould, the expedition's geologist, on the constitution of the great ice barrier, he said he had obtained exceedingly interesting results. He also studied the dust content of the air and made extensive investigations into the Aurora

As to the interrelation of magnetism, the Auroral activity and radio reception, he said little information of a conclusive nature would be available for some time.

The people are beginning to recognize that their acceptance for the department is on a very high plane. The recent definition by the Police Board of the department's relation to the citizen was unique in its understanding of what the police function is. The promptness with which the board disciplined an officer for brutality was admirable. Red Thursday was a bloody day in some of the peace of the world.

MEDDLING WITH THE REDICAL PROFESSION.
Something of an uprising in the medical profes of the Republican State Committee.

Sacks told the Governor he thought the Executive Committee of the Republican State Committee should be consulted on all appointments and promotions in the St. Louis Police Department. The Executive Committee has 20 members in all sections of the State. Most of them would not be particularly interested in police appointments and promotions in the City of St. Louis. So such a system would mean that the eight St. Louis members of the Executive Committee would be an unofficial police board. Mr. Sacks has returned from Jefferson City considerably sadhas returned from Jefferson City considerably sadder, if not much wiser. It was a one-man expedition, most of the local politicians having learned that it does no good to tell the Governor that he should look at police affairs from other points of view than that of the public wester.

It is chiefly because of the Governor's attitude that the police assumption in St. Louis is considerably sadunder such terms as the commissioner himself prescribes. What the medical profession particularly resents is the wide latitude given the commissioner.
For example, the commissioner may revoke a license without giving the licensee notice of the charges against him, if any. He merely places upon the physician the burden of proof to show why his license should not be revoked.

THE WINDS OF MARCH. An Economist's View of Auto Junking

Value of autos scrapped in last decade, $12,000,000,000, is greater than all of nation's manufactures in 1900; efficiency in production has increased, but effectiveness of consumption has not kept pace; most owners do not consider it wasteful to get a better car; but nature cannot supply raw materials indefinitely.

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Isaac Lippincott, Professor, School of Business and Public Administration, Washington University.

OME $12,000,000,000 worth of automobile luxury was sent to the scrap heap in the 10 years ending with 1929. This is a large sum. But its full significance is not revealed until we make a few compar-isons. The original value of the automolies which were ultimately converted into scrap during this decade was greater than scrap during this decade american manufactory. It was larger than the value of all manufactures in 1966. Or, to make another comparison, the original worth of the sutoexceeded the total value of all American manufactures in the year 1860. The attainments of this industry are some thing to boast about. They are an evidence and they supply a basis of faith in our future. Over 200,000 workers are engaged directly in making automobiles; but this statement does not reveal the importance of the industry, for hundreds of thousands. perhaps millions, of persons derive an inenterprise. In this class belong the repair chauffeurs, workers in oil wells and reflaction geologists and lawyers whose the antitrust laws.

This statement omits the thousands of workers in iron and steel, the thousands engaged in the growing and manufacture of rubber, and many others.

The automobile has no equal in the crea tion of a new demand for labor. It has been a voracious consumer of capital. In every respect it is our presider enterprise. Only 36 years of effort have been required to place it on this pinnacle.

We may return once more to dry figures. The total value of motor vehicles produced in the United States in the inst 10 years was about $24.000.000.000. At the same time, the original culue of the discarded product was $12,900.000.000. This means that about 50 per cent of automobile values dis-appeared in the decade. Possibly this also calls for eulogy, but this time the consumer is the recipient. But with many qualifica-

Not much more than five years are required for the painted or enameled Elizabeth of the upper automobile class to become the piebeian tin Lizzie of commerce, and to repose-finally as motor lunk. It can hardly be said that the gains in efficiency in production are matched by similar rains in effectiveness of consumption. If we mean by efficiency in consumption the using up of a high percentage of the "use" that is stored in the machine by the manufacturer, the consumer has much to learn, for in millions of cases the machine is discarded long before its effective power of to-comotion has come to an end.

Millions of units of horsenower still remain in the machines when they are abandoned by their owners. This, at least, means physical staffer, but whether it can be counted staste under our present system of constimption is another question for to meet of us it is maste to continue with abe ruture and say that there are indications that the industrial age is merely a passing phenomenon. The ability of this country, or of any other on our industrial stage, to continue the present course of production and consumption is not limited alone by the genius of man. There are serious limitations which arise from the restricted supplies of raw materials available in nature. Practically all our mechanical industries are founded on vanishing resources, as with the great power resources, coal and petroleum and with the metals inen, copper. lead and sinc.

Then, after our age, what? Unless acions speeds its discoveries, our descendants may be farmers, and for this they must give some thanks to the automobile industry, which has increased its consumption of steel from 12 per cent of the total output of American mills in 1225 to 18 per cent in 1922. Even now, about 25 per cent of the world's consumes about 96 per cent of the world's total output of them materialised. Some day this other 75 fer cent of people will become industrialized and will need its share of nature's stores. Then the pinch will come. The known supplies are not sufficient to sustain an industry like ours throughout the rest of the world. Thus, it is within the realm of possibility that the home of our descendants, a few generalicits hence, may be back on the farm and that the great cities will pass away: that the iron mines of the future, when, by sheer lack of material resources, the people have been driven back to the suil, will be the stell structures of the present cities and that the job of the iron masters of the future will be to beat structural steel into plowshares.

"The outlawing of the liquor traffic in the United States is the biggest event in the lifetime of any of us. It ran us; it ran Congress, our states and our cities, took $2,-500,000,000 each year mainly from the poor; scorned the church; mocked our efforts at regulation by its 'ladies' entrance,' and its wide-open Sundays. Even worse than the traffic was its parent, the license system, a system that gave men the right to do wrong. Pro-hibition closed the American sa-loon. The wets at the Washington hearing say they do not wish the saloon to return. How did we get rid of it? By prohibition, and no

"After the war, we would have doubled our liquor bill but for pro-hibition. We were the only nation that had prosperity after the war. The tone of our public life has changed. The adjournment of Congress, in the old days, was the sig-nal for a carnival of debauchery. But for the last 12 years I have Capitol Hill

"Reforms do not go backward. Great evils that have been abolished have stayed abolished—crucifixion, gladiatorial combats, pira-cy, slavery, dueling, polygamy. The liquor traffic is in course of extinction. Cutting off a chicken's head increases its activity, but not its longevity. You are seeing the liquor business in its expiring

Rabbi Gordon said that the "limnot due to prohibition, having a variety of causes. Unemployment has increased, he said, adding: "I deny that we have prosperity, and deny that we have prohibition." Prohibition has created a host of criminals, too strong fear consequences, or too weak resist the opportunity to make hay

"The new generation was to grow up safe and seber but where is youth new? Prohibition is the most corrupting factor in the moral bringing up of our youth. It has failed in state and nation. How miserably must and nation. How miserably must this 'experiment' tail before it passes from the 'no-ble' to the ignoble? The first mir-acle of Jesus was to turn water into wine; but if you prohibitionists can turn wine into water, that will be the miracle of miracles.

the entire army, or more fitly, the navy, he cannot vest prohibition with prohibitive powers, for you can only prohibit a wrong. You can't prohibit a right. Moderate drinking is a personal right. Alco-hol is recognized scientifically as a food. It has poisonous ingredicohol, exidized in the bodily processes, supplies energy, and it is incorrect to designate it as a poison. The normal person is taught to eat and drink normally. Our youth need guidance and control in the period of character-formation. That is the function of education, not of the police. "This question should be left to the states-not to abelish, but to regulate and control. You have no right to force this country into the moral straitjacket of Puritan-

Matching Texts.

Dr. Wilson, in his five-minute rebuttal, cited texts from the Jewish scriptures, "Wine is a mocker," "Look not on the wine when it is red." and various pronouncements of "woe." Rabbi Gordon matched these texts with "Wine rejoiceth the heart of man." and "Give wine unto the bitter of soul." Mr. Wm. H. Glover of 5005 Anthony Ave., Baltimore, is the manager of a filling station. Good weather and bad, whenever a customer "honks" for service, he must be on the job, ready to fill up a gas-tank or check the oil. marks will be plentiful. All have improved on their 1323 records in

How to Make it.

Put the required amount of gran

sugar.

The mixture will become lumpy and stirred until the lumps dissolve. Great care must be taken to prevent the sugar from burning otherwise a bitter taste results.

When cold pour into a bottle and use for flavoring the same as any

are sweet enough and some preserved ginger, chopped very fine,

Mix well and serve icy cold with

New Ways of Serving Vegetables Give Variety to This Week's Meals.

Although a roast seems to be ne traditional Sunday dinner, there are times when a change is welsteak, saving the roast to use later in the week. If the fumily is large in the week. If the family is large it will pay to buy a good sized steak—three and one-half to four pounds—so that the end and the bone may be used in making the pie that is served the next night. When steak is served as the meat course, have clear hot soup to precede it—this week a tomato bouillon, as the flavor is a good one for the other foods that make up the meal. This is simply made, be thinned and served.

Put the apples in a baking dish, cover the oottom of the dish with hot water and bake in a moderate oven until tender. Baste several times during the baking with the liquid in Vegetable Stew. Vegetable stew with dumplings forms the main dish for Wednesday's dinner. It is a delicious mix ture, too, and may be varied at will, according to the confbinations of vegetables used in making it. A tasty dish is made as follows: Meli one-fourth cup butter in a saucepan and add one-half cup sliced onions, one cup sliced celery, two tablespoons minced parsley. Cover and cook slowly for 10 minutes. Add one can of mixed okra and to-matoes, one cup string beans, cut fine; two cups bolling water, one-half cup diced carrots and one cup diced potatoes. Season with two teaspoons salt and simmer for 30 minutes. Droß small dumplings on top of the stew, cover and steam for 15 minutes, cooking slowly. For the dumplings, mix and sift one and one-half cups flour with one-half teaspoon salt and two teaspoons baking powder. Rub in two teaspoons butter with a fork, and when well blended, stir in one-half cup milk or water. The mixture should be a very soft lough; drop from a teaspoon into the boiling stew.

New Carrots, Flemish Style. Scrub two bunches of small new carrots, but do not peel. Cut each carrot in quarters, lengthwise. Melt two tablespoons butter in a saucepan, put in the carrots, onehalf cup boiling water, one tablespoon parsley and one-fourth tea spoon sugar. Cover closely and cook slowly for 20 minutes. By that time the carrots should be ten-der and most of the liquid absorbed. Sprinkle with one-half it and another table spoon minced parsley. "HERE IS PERFECT BREAD!"

Verdict of Test by Toasting Made at Famous Albany Gooking School

Domestic science students in strict test prove superiority of Sto-Baked Bread for ali-round every-day household needs

By ALICE ADAMS PROCTOR

OOD news for you, Mrs. Proctor. Wonder Bread wins J on every score!"

These were Mrs. Jennic Parkinson's first words to me when the bread test made at the Albany School of Cookery, of which she is Director, was over.

This test was made because I wanted the verdict of a great cooking school on slo-baked Wonder Bread's quality.

We Plan the Test

Mrs. Parkinson and I planned the test participated in by 187 students of this well-known school. We adopted the test by toasting because it reveals more about the baking and ingredients used in a bread than any other practical test.

For only perfect bread makes per-

How Test Was Made

First the girls cut slices from Wonder Bread and from several other good brands of bread. These slices were inserted in automatic toasters.

From every table throughout the long white room came the delicious aroma of toasting bread ...

Click! And a toaster would And another slice! Until finally a long row of Wonder toast lay beside a long row of the competing brands.

The girls checked each slice carefully-taking account of toasting time, even golden brown color, flavor-all the things that make toast good. Then these results were carefully tabulated. The verdict you already know!

It is hard for me to tell you how proud I was of those tender-crusted loaves of Wonder Bread . . . so finely textured ... so delicate in flavor. Here, indeed, was perfect bread! And judged so by the rigorous standards of a widely recognized cooking school!

Why Wonder Bread Won Test

Why did Wonder Bread win this test? Because Wonder Bread is a scientifically perfect bread.

BREAD TEST MADE UNDER SUPERVISION OF FAMED DIETITIAN

Here's the Actual Test . . . You try it!

Heat your toaster and toast a slice of Wonder Bread and a slice of any other bread the same length of time. Then note which slice is toasted more quickly, which is a more even, golden brown, which has a better "toast" flavor . . . This is your certain way to judge bread quality.

Six million dollars has been spent in research and equipment to make this perfect loaf for you. Only "short patent flour" milled from the nutritious heart of the wheat berry is used.

And finally - slo-baking assures you of true delicate bread flavor by allowing each tiny bread cell to bake thoroughly before the top becomes a tender golden brown crust.

What Test Means to You These are the things that make Wonder

Bread win in every competition where bread quality is to be considered.

But more important to you, they are the things which make your toast more flavorful and quick to make, your sandwiches better tasting, your bread pudding and stuffing light and delicately flavored.

OLD WITCH, the supereanser that gets things bright and clean in a jiffy without hard work . . . You can try it without risking a penny.

Go to your grocer. Deposit the price of a quart bottle. He'll give you an extra bottle, a regular 11-ounce bottle, free. Use the free bottle. Then, if you don't think Old Witch is the finest ammonia you've ever used, return the quart bottle. The grocer will return your deposit.

But once try Old Witch, and you won't want your money back. For Old Witch ends hard rubbing and scrubbing. Saves time and strength.
